Every February, the Mayor delivers his State of the City Address to share what has happened over the past year in the community and what we can look forward to in 2012. This year, Mayor Lou Ogden will deliver his State of the City in a video production called LouTube! It will be a little different than his past presentations, as it will also feature interviews from residents and businesses throughout Tualatin who share their perspectives on some of the exciting things happening around town. It's a different format, but one message is still the same, "Tualatin is the greatest city south of the North Pole!"

The Mayor will give his speech and debut the LouTube video production on February 23, 2012 at Hayden's Lakefront Grill at 11:30 a.m. You can sign up for the lunch on the Tualatin Chamber of Commerce website at www.tualatinchamber.com. If you can't make it to the luncheon presentation, the LouTube video will be available after February 23rd on the City's website at www.ci.tualatin.or.us or you can find it on the City of Tualatin Facebook page at www.facebook.com/Tualatin.OR.
