

Smallpools Gains National Attention

Bass Player Joe Intile is Tualatin Local

Smallpools is an Indie/Pop band that formed in 2013. Their debut single, "Dreaming" skyrocketed up the charts, reaching #1 earlier this year, followed by the release of their self-titled debut album released in July.

The band consists of Sean Scanlon (vocals), Mike Kamerman (guitar), Joe Intile (bass) and Beau Kuther (drums).

Joe Intile is a Tualatin native, graduating Tualatin High School in 2006, and seemed to really enjoy performing in front of his family and friends at Portland's Roseland Theater show on October 21st. As is his pattern he has someone from the audience hold a ceramic statue of a dog and takes a photo of the audience. On this evening, he handed the statue to his younger sister, Kate, who proudly posed for the photo.

He also enjoyed a large, energetic contingency of Tualatin High School graduates supporting him, and he gave a shout out to Tualatin High and even Victoria Woods much to the delight of the local fans.

Smallpools success has been rapid, but band members have put in their time prior to joining together earlier this year.

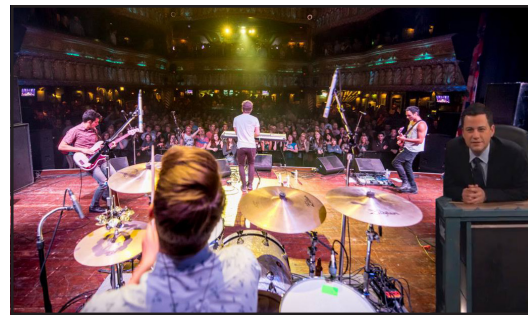

Lead singer Sean Scanlon and guitar player Mike Kamerman, both from New Jersey, had been playing in various bands since 2007. After relocating to Los Angeles to further their musical careers, they met Oregon natives Joe Intile (Bass) and Beau Kuther (Drums).

Smallpools released their second single, "Mason Jar", to critical acclaim. Their song "Dreaming" was also used in the season 5 premiere of The Vampire Diaries. The band and their song "Over and Over" were featured in a promotional video for Snapchat, introducing Snapchat Stories in October 2013.

Smallpools is currently touring across the US (& the UK), but the homecoming for Joe Intile to Portland was a special moment for his family and friends. He really seemed to revel in it as well. On their website, it is reported that they performed live on the Jimmy Kimmel show on October 28th.
